Dear Colleagues

A new e-learning tool for the National Immunisation Programme

Five years ago, the Ministry of Health developed an e-learning tool on the National Immunisation Programme. The tool was in response to requests from the health workforce to support increasing provider knowledge about immunisation and for providers to use in discussions with parents. The Ministry is now seeking to find out if the current tool meets your needs and how you would like it to be improved.

The Ministry of Health has contracted Malatest International, a research and evaluation company, to provide research to support the redevelopment of the e-learning tool. The Malatest International team includes Debbie McLeod (project manager) and Tim Rowland (senior research analyst).

We need your help

The Ministry and the researchers from Malatest International want to work closely with the sector in developing the e-learning tool to ensure that the tool meets the needs of the health professionals who will be using it.

We would like to talk to practice nurses about what they would like to see in the immunisation e-learning tool and how they would use the tool. If you are willing to talk to us about the e-learning tool please call us on 0800 002 577. You can look at the tool at www.learnonline.health.nz.

If you do not have time to talk to us, would you please take 10 minutes to complete our online survey by entering www.elearning.malatest.net in your internet browser address bar. Everyone who completes the survey will go into a draw to win a $150 voucher for a meal at a restaurant of their choice. The survey link will be open between 10 January and 7 February 2013.
