Intro
Firstly you may feel some of the questions are very frank and direct. Please keep in mind that they are asked the same way in all the countries where the survey is done, and the same way for up to 12,000 people in New Zealand. So they don't mean to be cheeky or personal, it's the same for everyone.

Secondly, some of the questions use a long sentence - so you may want me to read those out a second time. Just remember that they often have, say, three or four bits - like a thing you experienced, how long it lasted, how strong it was, and how much it affected you.

*NZSC0 At times during this interview I'll ask you to read some of the pages in this booklet and this set of showcards. Do you have any language, eyesight or reading problems which mean you need help with the booklet or showcards? We will be using these for some of the questions. I'll read through the first one to start us off. After that it's your choice whether you prefer to read them yourself or whether you'd like me to take you through them.
