Purpose

HealthCERT has completed the official mapping analysis of the Health and Disability Services Standards (NZS 8134:2008), the Fertility Services Standard (NZS 8181:2007), the Home and Community Support Sector Standard (NZS 8158:2012) and the Interim Standards for Abortion Services in New Zealand (the previous standards) against the updated Ngā Paerewa Health and Disability Services Standard NZS 8134:2021 (Ngā Paerewa).

This official mapping analysis compares the previous standards with Ngā Paerewa, showing which criteria have changed and which have stayed the same.

This document will help providers plan and prepare for meeting the updated requirements in Ngā Paerewa.

This document was updated in February 2023, following the initial implementation of Ngā Paerewa. Some changes have been made in mapping criteria for the Health and Disability Services Standards (NZS 8134:2008) and Home and Community Support Sector Standard (NZS 8158:2012) to Ngā Paerewa following feedback and discussion between HealthCERT, providers and the designated auditing agencies.

Background

The Health and Disability Services (Safety) Act 2001 (the Act) requires regular review of the any standards in force under the Act. Reviewing the standards regularly is important to ensure they reflect the health and disability services being provided today and continue to work for health practitioners, service providers as well as those using the services and their whānau.

In 2017, Manatū Hauora - The Ministry of Health (the Ministry) began a significant review and consultation process with the health and disability sector, including health practitioners, service providers, advocacy and support groups, iwi and the individuals and whānau who use our health and disability services.

The review gave the health and disability sector the chance to ensure the standards are flexible enough to reflect current accepted best practice and incorporate changes to the way they deliver high-quality care and support.

For more information about the review process, see the Standards Review (2019–2021) webpage on the Ministry website.

Other standards included in the review

The home and community support sector has some crossover with the health and disability sector. For this reason, the Home and Community Support Sector Standard (NZS 8158:2012) was considered as part of this review, with the support of the sector.

Following the passing of the Abortion Legislation Act 2020, the role of regulating abortion services transferred to the Ministry. Thus, the Ministry's Interim Standards for Abortion Services in New Zealand were also included in the review.

The updated Ngā Paerewa Health and Disability Services Standard

Following agreement from the health and disability sector, Ngā Paerewa combined the following four standards into one, significantly reducing duplication and variation across health and disability services.

- Health and Disability Services Standards (NZS 8134:2008)
- Fertility Services Standard (NZS 8181:2007)
- Home and Community Support Sector Standard (NZS 8158:2012)
- Interim Standards for Abortion Services in New Zealand.

Ngā Paerewa applies to over 650 different health and disability service providers, including fertility services, primary birthing centres, hospices, overnight hospital inpatient services (public and private), age-related residential care services, residential mental health and addiction services and disability services. This standard is also fit for use by home and community support services and abortion service providers in Aotearoa New Zealand.

The independent statutory board Standards Approval Board approved Ngā Paerewa on 4 May 2021. The Minister of Health approved Ngā Paerewa for use under the Act on 24 June 2021. Ngā Paerewa became mandatory on 28 February 2022.

Methodology

The mapping analysis compares the criteria that make up Ngā Paerewa with criteria from the Health and Disability Services Standards (NZS 8134:2008), Fertility Services Standard (NZS 8181:2007), Home and Community Support Sector Standard (NZS 8158:2012) and Interim Standards for Abortion Services in New Zealand (collectively referred to as 'the previous standards').

This mapping indicates the high-level similarities across the different criteria. In some instances, two or more criteria from the previous standards could be mapped to the same criteria in Ngā Paerewa. For the purposes of this document, we matched the criteria according to best fit. However, we acknowledge there may be other Ngā Paerewa criteria that the previous standards' criteria could be applied to.

Mapping categories

The mapping analysis of the previous standards and Ngā Paerewa fit the criteria into one of three categories.

1. Mapped: Ngā Paerewa criteria directly align to criteria in one or more of the previous standards. The criteria are either exactly the same or they have the same intent but the wording has been changed slightly to reflect more contemporary language.
2. Partially mapped: Ngā Paerewa criteria partially align to criteria in one or more of the previous standards. Ngā Paerewa criteria are either similar to the previous standards criteria or are the same as the previous standards criteria but with an additional element. In either situation, the wording is likely to be different because Ngā Paerewa criteria are more up to date, reflecting current accepted best practice.
3. Not mapped: Ngā Paerewa criteria do not align to criteria in any of the previous standards. New criteria have been added to Ngā Paerewa to reflect updated models of care and ensure New Zealanders receive safe services.

Mapping for specific services

The mapping considers the Health and Disability Services Standards in their entirety. This means that this initial mapping analysis does not consider any standards or criteria with notations¹ that indicate they only apply to some health and disability services.

High-level summary of analysis

Analysis of the Health and Disability Services Standards (NZS 8134:2008) criteria against Ngā Paerewa criteria indicates that 63 percent of the criteria directly map, 22 percent partially map and 15 percent do not map.

Analysis of the Fertility Services Standard (NZS 8181:2007) criteria against Ngā Paerewa criteria indicates that 51 percent of the criteria directly map, 3 percent partially map and 46 percent do not map.

Analysis of the Home and Community Support Sector Standard (NZS 8158:2012) criteria against Ngā Paerewa criteria indicates that 55 percent of the criteria directly map, 5 percent partially map and 40 percent do not map.

Analysis of the Interim Standards for Abortion Services in New Zealand criteria against Ngā Paerewa criteria indicates that 38 percent of the criteria directly map and 62 percent do not map.

¹ In the Health and Disability Services Standards, the notations 'ID' (intellectual disability), 'MHA' (mental health and addiction) and 'S' (acute, secondary or tertiary services) identified the parts of the standards that applied only to those particular services (NZS 8134:2008, p12).

Detailed mapping analysis

The following tables provide the official mapping analysis by criteria for the previous standards against Ngā Paerewa. See also Appendix A: Mapping analysis by service type.
